The Daily Courant.

Monday, February 18. 1706.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated Feb. 23.

Cadix, January 15.

WE expect next Week, the King's final Reſolution touching the Departure of the Flota and Galleons. Yeſterday we receiv'd Advice, that Don Juan Franciſco Manrique Governour of Ceuta, having made a Sally with half his Garriſon, after a ſharp Diſpute beat the Moors out of their Intrenchments, and ruin'd their principalAttack upon which they had work'd 11 Years and above, killing 1500 of the Barbarians, and wounding many more.

From the Bruſſels Gazette, dated Feb. 19.

Perpignan, Feb. 3. We have receiv'd Advice, that the Marſhal de Theſſe being march'd with a ſtrong Body of Troops towards Tortoſa, left M. d' Asfeld with 6 Battallions and as many Squadrons on the Cinca. M. d' Asfeld paſs'd that River the 25th of laſt Month, and march'd to Sons, a ſmall Place that had already return'd to its Obedience to the King of Spain. The 26th he detach'd M. de Montmain with 300 Horſe, to take Poſſeſſion of San Eſtevan de Litera: He found that that Poſt, the Avenues of which are difficult to paſs becauſe of the riſing Grounds that command them, was guarded by 700 Engliſh Foot, and 180 Horſe ſent from Lerida. As ſoon as he came in ſight of the Place, the Enemy rung out the Alarm-Bell, and the riſing Grounds were immediately cover'd with Miquelets, who deſign'd to ſurround him; but poſting himſelf in ſuch a manner as ſecur'd him from that Danger, he gave time to M. d' Asfeld to join him with all his Troops, who chac'd the Miquelets from Hill to Hill till Night, during which ſome Hundreds of Engliſh repair'd thither from Lerida. The 27th M. d' Asfeld having Intelligence that Reinforcements were coming to the Enemy from all Parts, reſolv'd to attack them; accordingly M. de Polaſtron charg'd them with 6 Companies of Grenadiers, ſupported by 6 Detachments of 60 Men each, and by Part of the Battallions de la Couronne and Silleri. The Enemy made a great Fire, but our Grenadiers, with their Bayonets in the Muzzles of their Pieces, puſh'd on to their Poſt, which was a kind of natural Intrenchment, and put them into Diſorder. M. d' Asfeld ſeeing new Troops of the Enemy arrive continually, reſolv'd to draw off; and did ſo very quietly, the Enemy not firing a ſhot; the Miquelets fir'd but little during the Action, perhaps becauſe they wanted Powder. A Drummer that return'd to M. d' Asfeld's Camp the 28th reported, that Lieutenant General Dorrington and an Engliſh Collonel were kill'd, another Collonel wounded, moſt of the Officers kill'd or wounded, and their Companies of Grenadiers intirely broken. Of M. d' Asfeld's Troops, a Captain of Grenadiers was kill'd, the Lieutenant Collonel of the Regiment of Sillery dangerouſly wounded in the Leg, 5 Captains and ſome ſubaltern Officers wounded, and about 70 Soldiers kill'd or wounded.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated Feb. 23.

Paris, Feb. 15. 'Tis believ'd the Duke of Vendome will prevail with the King to take his Brother the Grand Prior into Favour agen, and to let him ſerve the enſuing Campaign. The Court paſs the Carnival in Balls and Maſquerades: In the mean time the Miniſters apply themſelves diligently to ſettle the neceſſary Funds for the approaching Campaign, and eſpecially to raiſe a great Sum of ready Money, to be ſent to Italy and Spain, without which our Troops cannot ſubſiſt, and this has retarded till now the march of moſt of thoſe that are to go toCatalonia. Letters from Spain adviſe, that there is ſo great an Animoſity between the Peaſants and our Troops, that a Soldier dares not ſtraggle from his Company for fear of being kill'd by the Peaſants, and on the other Hand no Quarter is given to any Peaſant that is found in Arms. Our Troops are continually in Motion, for almoſt every Village makes Reſiſtance. A Letter from Saragoſſa has this Paſſage.

'There are a great number of mutinous People 'in this Town, that daily give broad Signs of their 'wicked Intentions, which are to plunder the 'French, of whom there are 950 in this City, if the 'Viceroy, the Nobility, and Magiſtrates, were not 'continually taking one Method or other to hinder 'them; ſo that we live in a conſtant Apprehenſion 'of ſome Diſorder.

From the Harlem Courant, dated Feb. 23.

Amſterdam, Feb. 22. Letters from Genoa adviſe, that all the French Privateers in the Mediterranean are order'd to repair to Toulon; that they may be employ'd to ſtrengthen the King's Fleet that is fitting out at Toulon.

From the Paris Letter, dated Feb. 19.

Paris, Feb. 19. They write from Caſal, that the 26th of laſt Month, M. Paul Diack Collonel of Huſſars march'd from Chivas with 400 Horſe and 8 Companies of Grenadiers, to ſurprize one of the Enemy's Quarters at Settimo on the Road from Chivas to Turin, where was a Party of the Duke of Savoy's Troops: He took ſome Peaſants and 60 Huſſars who have taken Service in the King's Troops; he likewiſe took 2000 large Cattle, and brought them off to Chivas and Creſcentino.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Feb. 23.

Turin, Feb. 3. Men are kept continually at Work upon the new Fortifications of this City; and all the Caſtles of our Neighbourhood are fortifying likewiſe, to give the French Employment and gain Time in Caſe they come to attack us in the Spring, as they give out they will. Recruits for our Duke's Troops are raiſing very ſucceſsfully; and 5 new Regiments of Foot, are forming out of the Militia which the Towns and Villages of the open Country are oblig'd to furniſh, each proportionably to their Number of Inhabitants. Laſt Week 400 French Horſe with each a Foot Soldier behind, attempted to ſurprize our Huſſars quarter'd at Laus; but only 22 were kill'd or carried off Priſoners with 40 Horſes, the reſt making their Eſcape.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated Feb. 23.

Vienna, Feb. 11. Councellor Degen is ſent by his Imperial Majeſty to Catalonia, with 20000 Ducats for King Charles III. 'Tis talk'd he likewiſe carries with him a Picture of the Princeſs of Wolfenbuttel, between whom and his Catholick Majeſty a Match is propos'd. Notwithſtanding his Imperial Majeſty had had upon the Instances of the Ministers mediators of England and Holland granted all that could reasonably be ask'd of him for facilitating an Accommodation with the Malecontents of Hungary, 'tis reported the great Council held by the chief of them at Mizgotsch is broken up without coming to any Resolution upon that Subject; 'tis likewise talk'd Count Rechteren being inform'd of it, stop'd at Tirnau, and will shortly come back hither. But of this we shall be able to give a certain Account by the next Post. 500 Horse newly rais'd by the Estates of the lower Austria, and some Dragoons lately arriv'd from Bohemia, march'd on Sunday last over the Danube towards the Leitha, to joyn the Militia of Moravia and the Regiment of Montecuculi: And we expect the Regiment of Osnabrug from Bavaria, with which and other Troops 'tis design'd to form a Body of 8000 Men, to act in the lower Hungary. The Malecontents keep Oedenburg and Eysenstad block'd up; but the Garrison of the latter having made a Sally upon them, kill'd many of them and took several Waggons loaded with Wine and other Provisions.

From the Amsterdam Courant and Leiden Gazette.

Francfort, Feb. 17. Yesterday a Minister of the States General went from hence, with a Commission to confer secretly with Prince Lewis of Baden. A great many Boats laden with Ammunition sent from Holland, are gone up the Rhine, for storing the great Magazines that are making in the lower Alsace; which makes it conjectur'd the Allies design to make their greatest Efforts against France on that side the ensuing Campaign.

From the Harlem Courant, dated Feb. 23.

Liege, Feb. 19. New Orders are come for fortifying more strongly the Towns of Tongeren, Hasselt, and Bilsen, notwithstanding they are already so strong, that they cannot be attack'd without Cannon: A Council has also been held, to consult of fortifying Borchloen, St. Truyn, and Diest; and the Plans agreed on are sent to the Hague to their High-Mightynesses, for their Approbation.
